

The times we live in are uncertain. Who knows what next year will bring. We plan on being there. Being constant. Navigating the landscape. Being creative, innovative and rising to the challenges. Working side by side with people and their families as well as with the Health and Social Care Partnerships in the areas people live in.

At C-Change we're guided by our strong values base. This past year has been a time of reflection on the things that we believe and the ways that we work. Our reflections have confirmed for us that we do our best work when we are in the right relationship with each other. Here are some of the ways we understand our work.

“ A multi-disciplinary team, working together to get a result for a man that it's easy not just to like but to love ”

“ We are committed to our human rights-based approach and our unwavering focus on person centred working ”

We are C-Change Scotland. We work across the Central Belt and we're up in Aberdeen. Our day-to-day experience is different but our purpose is the same...People living their best lives...

C-Change staff are bright, talented and kind. Their commitment to the people we work for and the values we hold is often inspiring. Their unique individuality and perspectives make for a diverse and fascinating work force. Assume nothing! Take nothing for granted...except that they will be constantly surprising and always committed to doing their best for the people we work for.

The People we work for are the heart and soul of C-Change. They are our best teachers and truest guides. They are some of the most courageous people we know. We hope that these stories encourage the reader and honour Steven and Aidan.

“ We are all human beings...some people just need some extra support throughout their lives ”

“ What we needed was the right support, here in our home and in our local community ”
